Hurricane season begins Monday

House additions may cancel flood insurance benefits

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The 1981 hurricane season begins Monday.

Although many Hancock County structures in low-lying, flood prone areas are protected by flood insurance policies, certain "improvements" will void reimbursement for all water-related damages.

This area has not experienced the full force of a major hurricane since August 17, 1969 when Hurricane Camille devastated the central and western Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The storm demolished hundreds of structures and killed dozens of people trapped in low-lying areas. This tragedy prompted coast officials to establish building codes and regulations.

The cities of Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Waveland adopted the Southern Standard Building Code to insure the construction of storm resistant structures.

Hancock is the only Mississippi Gulf Coast county without a county-wide building code, but structure foundations in low-lying, flood prone areas are required to be elevated at least 13.1 feet above sea level.

The County Planning Commission is responsible for enforcing this regulation, but sometimes allows variances for commercial structures and residents with bonafide medical problems.

Also, in response to an apparent public demand, the commission agreed to allow residents in these areas to build a room not exceeding 12-feet by 12-feet underneath elevated homes below the 13.1-foot level.

The commission permits this enclosure primarily so a resident may protect and insulate a stairway.

This enclosure must not contain electrical outlets, wiring or appliances.

Donn Murray, commission building inspector, reports that in many instances residents in flood zones will frequently expand these enclosures after a home is built to house appliances or bathrooms.

Local insurance agents confirm that if a home receives water damage from a hurricane or flood and company appraisers find additional structures below the 13.1-foot level, the insured building will be classified as in "non-compliance" which cancels payment for a claim.

Additional space under elevated homes may be enclosed, but only with "breakaway" walls such as screening and lattice work.

The inspector says conventional FLOOD—Page 5A

State border dispute key in shrimpers trial

By BRENT MACEY

Location of the state line between Mississippi and Louisiana was the key issue Wednesday in the trial of four Hancock County shrimp fishermen recently accused of fishing in closed waters.

Justice Court Judge Lee Klein referred to the four as "scape goats or Judas goats" and stated, "The issue had to come to a head."

"If it had not been you (the arrested fishermen) it would have been somebody else," he told the fishermen.

Three of the four fishermen were found innocent of fishing in closed waters. They are, T.J. Strong, Harold Strong, and Carol Mayne.

Woody Allison, the first of the four tried, was originally found guilty and fined $54. Klein later suspended that sentence and stated "the boundary line had not been determined when he was tried and it could not be determined if he was guilty."

Charges against Harold Strong for resisting arrest were dismissed after Klein stated, "Those charges should have been filed against Marion Strong (Harold Strong's brother)."

Brad Williams, bureau enforcement officer, testified Marion Strong had stated, "I'll switch you with a whipping stick" if the law officer boarded the shrimping boat after the boat docked in Bayou Cadet.

T.J. Strong and Mayne were found guilty of not obeying a lawful order and received suspended sentences.

Mississippi's shrimping season will not open until June 9 and until that date shrimpers can fish legally only in Louisiana waters which opened May 15.

A controversy over the enforcement of the correct state boundary arose shortly after Louisiana's opening shrimp day.

That controversy became an emotional issue according to one law enforcement official and led to two shrimp fishermen also being charged with disobeying a lawful order and another with resisting arrest.

Some 45 minutes of stalling maps and discussion over the across-water state line preceded the trial. The discussion and agreements gave most in court-room the impression the issue had been resolved.

Klein said before the trial, "We want to try to resolve this issue now so that when everybody leaves here there will be no questions."

Bureau law enforcement officers during the trial appeared to agree with fishermen that the boundary between Beacon Number One and Beacon

Facing Hancock, Harrison charges

Man jailed in rape, kidnap, robbery of Louisiana woman

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A New Orleans man is being held in Hancock County Jail facing charges of rape in two counties, kidnapping and armed robbery of a woman.

Jay Bee Cunningham, 28, of 3737 North Dusenwall St. in New Orleans is in jail under $100,000 bond pending a preliminary hearing and arraignment before Justice Court Judge Lee Klein.

County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay Saturday said Cunningham is charged with raping twice, kidnapping and robbing Wendy Gail Faulk Duham, 23, of New Iberia, La.

"Duham left New Iberia in her automobile at about 7:30 p.m. Friday night driving to Biloxi to attend her sister's wedding," the investigator said.

Seay stated that Duham apparently stopped her car on the Hwy. 603 road shoulder just north of Longfellow Road due to a flat tire and after unsuccessfully attempted to change the tire decided to lock herself inside the car to wait until daylight.

The investigator said Cunningham allegedly came up to the car and asked the woman if she needed help.

"Duham said the window of her car was partially open. Cunningham allegedly drew a butcher knife on her and grabbed the woman by the neck through the window," Seay reported. The investigator said Cunningham allegedly gained access to the car to rob the woman of jewelry and money then raped her.

Seay reported that Cunningham apparently forced the woman into his car and drove to a location in Harrison County where he allegedly raped Duham again.

"He also had a flat tire on his car. A truck driver picked them both up and when they stopped in Jackson County, a sheriff's deputy there apprehended Cunningham," the investigator said.

Cunningham was then transferred to Harrison County then Hancock County Saturday afternoon.

Seay said Duham was examined, treated and released from Gulf Coast Community Hospital in Biloxi Saturday.

The investigator reported Duham also sustained bruises on her back and neck.

Assisting Seay in an investigation is Harrison County Sheriff's Department investigator Prentiss Smith.

Mutilated body found on I-10

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A mutilated body of a white man was found Thursday morning on I-10 near the Delisle exit.

Harrison County Coroner Ed Little Thursday said the Mississippi Highway Patrol summoned his assistance and he pronounced the yet unidentified man dead at the scene at 1:15 a.m. that day. The coroner reported the body appeared to have been run over by several vehicles and mutilated beyond recognition.

No identification was found on the body.

A highway patrol spokesman Saturday said the body has been sent to New Orleans for forensic identification.

Bay Council accepts emergency repair bid

By BRENT MACEY

The Bay St. Louis City Council Thursday accepted the only bid received for emergency repairs for a leaking gas line along Julia Street.

A bid of $29,994 from Utilities Construction Company of Hattiesburg was accepted by the council to repair some 2,300 linear feet of gas line from Beach Boulevard to Duham Avenue.

The council declared the leaks an emergency during a meeting May 15. A bid from Southern Enterprises of Gulfport received at 4 p.m. May 20, could not be accepted or opened because the bid failed to reach the council before the 5 p.m. deadline date May 20.

Board members asked the Hattiesburg company what new be contacted to show proof they possess a certificate of insurance covering workmen's compensation and a manufacturer's and contractor's liability.

That proof must be provided before work can begin, they stated.

In other business the board discussed hiring James Chiniche, a local engineer, to appraise a water and sewer system servicing Hancock Heights subdivision.

The system is owned by Seashore Utilities Company and was installed in 1961 according to Fred Wagner, board member.

The utility company is asking $30,000 for the system and Wagner said he felt the city should have the system appraised to determine a depreciation cost before entering any negotiations.

VA Questions

Q - Has my eligibility for a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan expired? I was discharged in 1956.

A - No. Loan entitlement which is based on military service since Sept. 16, 1940, is no longer subject to an expiration date.

Q - As the widow of a veteran, I was covered under the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Veterans Administration, but I have recently remarried. Am I entitled to keep my CHAMPVA coverage?

A - No. A surviving spouse of a deceased veteran who remarries loses entitlement to CHAMPVA. Eligibility may be reinstated, however, if the marriage is terminated.

Q - My mother receives a Veterans Administration widow's pension, and she has recently gone blind. Can the VA offer any further help?

A - Widows qualified for death pension may be granted a special allowance if they are helpless, blind or in a nursing home, or so nearly helpless as to require the regular aid and attendance of another person. Contact the nearest VA office for details.

Q - Is the Veterans Administration burial allowance payable in cases of veterans whose remains have been cremated?

A - Yes. The VA burial allowance is payable for interment, cremation, and burial at sea.

Q - I am confined to a wheelchair and have been told I am probably eligible for a Veterans Administration clothing allowance. What is the clothing allowance?

A - The clothing allowance is provided to veterans who must use a prosthetic or orthopedic appliance, including a wheelchair, as a result of a service-connected disability. Currently, this annual allowance is $274.

Q - I am now receiving social security and am covered by Medicare. Can I still maintain coverage under the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the Veterans Administration?

A - No. Any individual who is eligible for medical care under Medicare is not eligible for CHAMPVA benefits.

Q - How much will the Veterans Administration reimburse the family of a deceased veteran who purchases a headstone in lieu of a government issued headstone?

A - The VA currently pays $50 toward the cost of a non-government headstone for placement in any cemetery other than a national cemetery.

Q - Can I change the beneficiary on my National Service Life Insurance in my last will and testament?

A - No. An original designation can be made by last will and testament, but not a change. If you wish to change your beneficiary, contact the nearest VA office.

Q - I am attending school under the Veterans Administration's dependents' education assistance program on a full-time basis. Do I qualify for the VA work-study program?

A - No. The work-study program is available only to veterans.

Q - What happens if the loan payments for a Veterans Administration guaranteed home loan are not made?

A - Failure to make GI home loan payments may lead to foreclosure and loss of the veteran's home. In addition, if the government is required to pay a claim as a result of failure to repay the loan, the veteran will become indebted to the government for the amount of any such claim.

Q - During the burial ceremony of my brother, who was a veteran, the flag which draped the casket was presented to his wife. Why wasn't our mother entitled to the flag?

A - One burial flag is presented in accordance with the law to the next-of-kin of a veteran in the following order: spouse, children, father, mother, brother, sister, etc.

Q - I was injured while on active duty in World War II but have never filed a claim for compensation with the Veterans Administration. Is it too late to do now?

A - No. There is no time limit for filing a claim for compensation. Contact the nearest VA office for assistance.

Q - How much was the recent education allowance increase and what is the effective date?

A - Chapters 34 and 35 benefit rates for veterans and dependents were increased five percent effective Oct. 1, 1980. They will be increased an additional five percent effective Jan. 1, 1981. Sub-sistence allowance rates for vocational rehabilitation were increased 17 percent effective Oct. 1, 1980.

I am asking you to go to the polls on June 2nd and exercise your right to vote.

In 22 years as a local businessman, I have learned how to run a business smoothly and efficiently. The City of Bay St. Louis is big business. We need a mayor with a proven track record.

If I can't accomplish more, in the next four years, to improve and upgrade city services, than has been done in the past administration, I won't ask for, or deserve, another four years.

You have a choice on June 2nd. You can give me your vote and a chance to get things done, or you can keep things the way they are.

THANK YOU

Knights' Notes
By PETER SCIANNA
News or announcements for Knights' Notes should be called in to 467-4505 after 6 p.m. Please, no calls after 10 p.m.

Deadline for the Thursday column is 8 p.m. Saturdays, while notes for Sunday are to be turned in no later than 6 p.m. Monday night.

Announcements should be turned in several weeks ahead of time for Council activities. Knights' Notes is not only a newsletter for members of the Knights of Columbus, but it is the channel through which our Council expresses its community interests.

As the newly revitalized Pere LeDuc Council begins to organize all its committees through which it will direct its many community projects, the column will report on all that activity, reflecting to the community what the Knights can do and are willing to do for the people of this area.

We hope that you will continue to read this column as we begin to report on all the work done by this organization.

Brother George DiBenedetto reports Sunday, June 7 Knights plan a St. Mary's Cemetery cleanup.

All parishioners are invited to join with them to spend at least two hours in the morning. Bring a rake, lawnmower, or broom.

Refreshments will be on hand. Brother DiBenedetto reminds us that St. Mary's Cemetery belongs to Our Lady of the Gulf Parish, and adds, "Let us not have to apologize for the appearance of the place where our departed fellow parishioners are laid to rest."

One of the many activities of which we are proud is organization of the Columbian Squires by Brothers James Thrifflay and Ed Friloux. This Council has never before sponsored the organization for young men ages 13-18.

Anyone seeking information about the Squires or who wishes to join is asked to call Brother Friloux at 467-5018. As we observe the Solemnity of the Ascension today, we should remember all our departed Brothers and Brothers who are ill.

We ask that you pray for the family of Nelius Favre, who passed away this week.

We also ask that prayers be said for two Brothers who are currently in the hospital, Rodney Corr and Charles Scianna. The Knights wish them a speedy recovery.

Grand Knight Bob Hubbard reminds all Knights and candidates for the First, Second and Third Degrees of the upcoming initiation all day Sunday.

Preparations for this event have been going on all week. The KC Hall has been getting a sprucing up for the initiation.

The kitchen will have an entirely new look, clean-up has been done on the Hall grounds, and parking lot, and there are plans for a new air-conditioner in the upstairs chamber.

The candidates and Knights will be escorted by the Fourth Degree Knights as they parade down Main Street to the Our Lady of the Gulf Church Sunday morning where they will attend Mass and take Communion.

Several Knights will serve as commentators and extraordinary ministers for this 9 a.m. service.

The public is invited to view the parade on Main Street by the KC Hall Sunday morning at 8:30 a.m.

We are looking for the saddle that goes on the goat to be ridden by initiates during the parade.

Anyone with information as to where the saddle may be found is asked to contact the KC Hall.

Welcome to the Knights of Columbus all initiates at today's Degree Ceremonies, especially all our new Brothers in Pere LeDuc Council No. 1522.

Congratulations, fellow Knights, on the receiving of your degrees. We feel that today's ceremonies will be something that you will remember quite fondly for years to come.

This is only the beginning of your service as a Knight of Columbus.

Many of the Knights in our council have been active brothers for many years and continue to look forward to their duties as Knights.

We hope that you learn to share in the fraternity and charity exemplified by the Knights as have these brothers.

Tomorrow night will be our first meeting for the month of June at 8 p.m. in the KC Hall. We especially encourage the newly initiated Knights to come and take part in your Council.

Even as Pere LeDuc Council expands its membership nearly every week, membership chairman Richard Smith informs us that there is always room in the council for new brothers or brother Knights who wish to reactivate their memberships.

So, if a Knight comes to you to talk about the organization, why not lend him a couple of minutes of your time? You do not have to wait for a Knight to approach you. If you wish to learn more about the Knights, call Grand Knight Bob Hubbard at 467-3463.

Fellow Knights, you can still propose a new member and get the special Pope John Paul II medalion.

There is a Ladies' Auxiliary, too! Call Mrs. Steele at 467-5622.

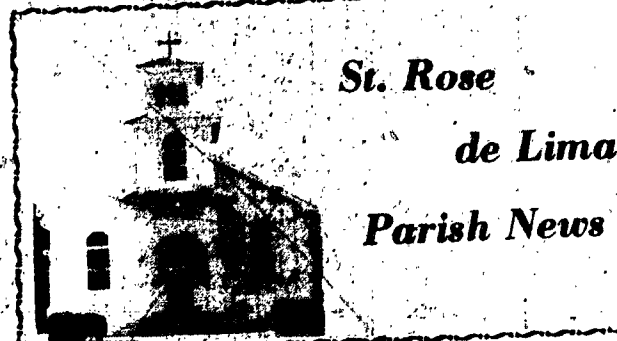

As the council hosts its first first, second and third Degree ceremony in years today, and as more and more men express their desire to be part of the Knights, we invite all Catholic men, ages 18 and up, to take part in this council, which has always been recognized throughout this community.

We're proud of Council No. 1522 and all its members. Why not join in this fine tradition? Before we get carried away, we feel it is time to close this column with this simple thought:

If you confer a benefit, never remember it; if you receive one, never forget it. —Chilon.

Our council has lost a beloved brother with the passing of Fourth Degree Knight Nelius Favre Sr. He had been a member since 1946.

We express our condolences to his wife Ethel and other members of the Favre family.

Bits 'n pieces

Tuesday is election day for the residents of the City of Bay St. Louis. The general election will settle two very important positions for Bay St. Louis, the offices of mayor and councilman for Ward Three. So it is very important for all residents to vote.

Since this is a general election, a person can vote a candidate from one party in one race and a different party candidate in another race. Democratic, Republican and Independent candidates are on the ballot.

As a formality, all electors will have an opportunity to vote for councilman-at-large and councilman for Wards One, Two, and Four. Democratic nominees are seeking those offices with no opposition from Republican or Independent candidates.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. Residents in Ward One will vote at the Garden Center on Leonhard; in Ward Two at the Sy Rosenthal Gym, St. Augustine's Seminary; in Ward Three at the Valena C. Jones complex; and in Ward Four at Virginia Hall, Christ Episcopal Church.

Get everyone out to vote, every vote does count.

We were very sorry to hear about the passing of Nelius Favre Sr. this week.

Nelius was a former employee of The Sea Coast Echo when it was owned by his family in the 40's and 50's, before he joined The Daily Herald.

He was well known in the area and has had a real battle with sickness over the past several years.

We extend our sympathy to his wife, mother, children, relatives and so many friends.

In a conversation with his son Neil, we found out that more than 60 pints of blood were used in the last three weeks trying to keep Nelius going.

His family has to replace this blood, and we have made appeals before, and know several have replaced some of the blood used, but much more is needed.

If you are in New Orleans and would like to help the Favre family; drop by Oschner's Hospital and donate a unit of blood in his name.

Hancock General Hospital celebrated its 20th birthday on Thursday. It is hard to realize so many years have passed as it seems as if it were just yesterday the hospital opened.

J.D. (Big John) Rutherford reminded us of the birthday Friday. One of the reasons he so well remembers it, is because it was on his wife's birthday.

Things are looking brighter for Hancock General than ever before and a lot of folks are becoming involved in the beautification of HGH.

So we would like to say Happy Birthday Hancock General Hospital.

It is sure a small world when one really thinks about it. A May 26 issue of the National Enquirer carries the photo of comedian Phyllis Diller and Dr. Donald Levy.

Dr. Levy and I graduated from St. Stanislaus in the class of 1953. We understand his mother still resides in Bay St. Louis.

It seems that Donald is doing real fine in Milwaukee as a plastic surgeon.

On Phyllis Diller, well we have seen her on TV several times.

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

MEXICO CITY—Governor William Winter met with Mexican President Lopez Portillo May 19 while leading a delegation of 16 Mississippi businessmen on a significant trade and economic development mission to Mexico.

Winter met with top Mexican government, industrial and financial executives during his two-day mission in an effort to expand the export of Mississippi agricultural and industrial equipment and products to that country.

Winter said, "Mexico, which is our nearest foreign neighbor, is an excellent market for Mississippi. A significant boost in the export of Mississippi products to Mexico will mean more income and more jobs for our state."

Winter has worked for several months to further open the Mexican market to Mississippi firms. He met with the Mexican Ambassador to the United States earlier this year and helped initiate a seminar for Mississippi businessmen on how best to do business with Mexico.

In addition to meeting with President Portillo, Governor Winter met with the under secretaries of the Mexican ministries of agriculture, ports and merchant marine.

He also met with the purchasing agent for Pemex, the state-controlled oil company, the director-general of the Mexican Institute for Foreign Trade, and several Mexican bank and financial officials.

On his return from Mexico, Governor Winter participated in a conference on international trade held in Biloxi. Among the conference participants was former Governor Reuben Askew of Florida who served with distinction as U.S. Trade Ambassador.

Winter said, "Mexico, which is our nearest foreign neighbor, is an excellent market for Mississippi. A significant boost in the export of Mississippi products to Mexico will mean more income and more jobs for our state."

ONE STEP LEFT

Mississippi's newly enacted highway program addresses a number of issues which have plagued the state's highway system since the 1940s.

One of the sections of the comprehensive highway bill makes the three-member Highway Commission a policy-making body, divested of its involvement in the daily operations of the Highway Department.

Across the years, the Highway Commission has frequently operated as three separate highway departments. The elected commissioners, because they are paid a reasonable salary for a full-time position, have been more directly involved in personnel matters and in contract supervision than was originally intended by the Legislature.

This involvement has frequently led to a lack of coordinated highway planning throughout the state, construction in locations where greatest needs do not exist, and unrealized expectations of progress among the professional staff of the Department.

Placing the Commission in a policy-making position and divesting them of their day-to-day involvement will enhance the quality of administration of the state's highway system, but the Mississippi Economic Council feels that the Legislature should take an additional step.

MEC has long advocated a five-member, appointed highway commission with a commissioner appointed from each congressional district, with staggered terms to prevent selection of a majority of the Commission during any four-year period.

Mississippi—the only state in the nation with elected highway commissioners—has everything to gain from an effectively administered highway system, and MEC applauds the actions of the 1981 Legislature on the Commission's role. The Council recommends an appointed highway commission as the next major step in assuring a quality highway program for all Mississippians.

GENERATIONS OF UNDERPRODUCTIVE PEOPLE

Mississippi is producing generations of underproductive people which as a direct relationship to the state's inevitable position as 50th in per capita income.

This was the assessment made by Governor William Winter in an address recently to the Mississippi Economic Council.

The Governor pointed out that in Mississippi the rejection rate for the armed forces is 35 percent compared with 9 percent nationally; out of every 100 Mississippians who finish high school, 59 do not—10 points higher than any other state; and 15,000 Mississippians dropped out of high school last year.

He told MEC members that "we are raising generation after generation of underproductive people."

The Mississippi Economic Council has long advocated a strong education system which will provide fully developed individuals for the state's work force.

One step MEC recommends as necessary in the education process is the establishment of public school kindergartens in the minimum education program.

The value of the kindergarten experience for five-year-olds is widely accepted. Nationally, about three out of four five-year-olds are enrolled in kindergarten programs.

Many educators agree with the estimate that 17 percent of a youngster's growth takes place between ages four and six, and a kindergarten program has far-reaching consequences on the child's general learning pattern. However, the state Legislature again failed to pass a public kindergarten bill during the last session.

In light of the facts brought out by Governor Winter, the MEC urges Mississippians to ask their lawmakers, "What is more expensive, ignorance or education?"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Franckiewicz not challenging mayoral election, but irregularities cited

May 31, 1981

To the local press:

A number of people have asked about my plans to challenge the mayor's primary election. After reviewing the campaign and examining the boxes, we found a number of irregularities, but not enough to challenge at this time.

Some people were not allowed to vote in this election because they were not listed on the poll books. Unfortunately, these voters did not know about their right to request an affidavit ballot envelope.

The envelope bears a sworn statement by the voter saying that he or she is registered. After the election, the officials check the credentials of the affidavit voter to decide whether or not to count the ballot. I encourage all voters who have problems voting in this Tuesday's election to use the affidavit procedure to preserve their right to vote.

Most of the problems with the poll books are the result of a state law which requires dual registration in the city and in the county. I believe that this state law deprives many people of their right to vote. I invite anyone concerned about this problem to join me in contacting Rep. J.P. Compretta and State Senator Martin Smith to encourage them to change the law.

In closing, I want to thank the city clerk, his deputy, and the Democratic Executive Committee for their excellent cooperation after the election. Finally, I want to remind all of the voters that we still have a general election on Tuesday, June 2, to decide the mayor's race the Ward Three council seat.

Washington Report

5th District, Mississippi

ARMY ON ROAD TO SOLVING PROBLEMS

The new Secretary of the Army, John O. Marsh, Jr., brings a wealth of experience to the job to which he was appointed by President Reagan. He served four terms in Congress from Virginia, was counselor to President Ford, and is a former assistant secretary of defense.

But the challenge facing him now is one of the toughest of his career. Secretary Marsh is working to fine tune the fighting machine we know as the United States Army.

Because our military forces were allowed to slip substantially in terms of equipment and personnel over the past years, the rebuilding task isn't easy. More defense spending is part of the answer, but along with that, new incentives must be allowed to attract high quality recruits.

Secretary Marsh joined Congressman Jack Edwards of Alabama and me the other day for a television program and had some interesting comments about today's Army. For example, when the "total force concept" came into being with the all-volunteer Army in 1973, National Guard and Reserve units were made co-equals with the Regular Army in planning and strategy.

Secretary Marsh said the Mississippi National Guard strength was 105 percent of its necessary level. When I speak at the National Guard convention in Biloxi in a couple of days, I plan to point out the willingness of Mississippians to support their country through military service.

The secretary did say the most troublesome aspect of personnel strength now is in the Individual Ready Reserve.

Even so, he said the recent pay increase has had a favorable impact on recruiting. He also noted a new attitude among young people to serve their country, a welcome change from the recent past.

Secretary Marsh made note of the progress of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant, a facility under construction in Hancock County. He said the facility could be producing some components of the advanced 155 mm artillery shell by the end of this year and would employ between 1,000 and 1,500 persons at full production in 1984.

We also discussed the new Army combat tank, the XM1. Most of the bugs in the weapon system appear to be working out. It's a good thing because the tank is needed to offset the advances of the USSR's ground forces.

Other improvements are also necessary as the army moves to modernize its equipment and attract new recruits. Secretary Marsh is well on the road to success in these areas.

The secretary made a point that I think is worth repeating. He recognized that the Army has problems, but that spirit remains high, and anyone who understates the Army's ability is making a mistake.

A VICTORY FOR THE PEOPLE

President Reagan's bi-partisan plan to restore economic health to the nation has passed its first and most important test so far in Congress.

On a substantial vote of 253-to-176, every one of the 190 Republicans in the House and 63 conservative Democrats joined forces to approve the plan. I think the House vote really was a victory for the people.

The broad, comprehensive economic recovery plan will go a long way toward controlling inflation, getting interest rates down, and moving economic growth forward. In the process, of course some federal programs will be cut back.

But many of those programs have been excessive for years. Most could be done and done better by state or local governments.

The battle in the House was hard fought. One option was a more liberal package presented by Congressman Jim Jones, D-Okla., chairman of the House Budget Committee. This package would have allowed more federal spending and less tax cuts.

The Reagan bi-partisan package was authored by Congressman Del Latta, a Republican from Ohio, and Congressman Phil Gramm, a Democrat of Texas. Congressman Latta serves as ranking Republican member of the Budget Committee.

The bi-partisan package offered a systematic program of cutting the growth of federal spending and reducing tax rates for individuals and business. It also offered regulatory reform and a means of stabilizing the monetary supply.

The program recognized that the most important thing we can do for the shipyard worker in Pascagoula, the Masonite employee in Laurel, the personnel at our government installations or the senior citizen in Leghessville is to get inflation under control and get interest rates down.

It's to the President's credit that the package was approved by the House. But, this is not the end of the debate; it's the beginning.

Now we have to turn our attention to each individual appropriations measure as it comes up for consideration.

NSTL Visitors Center featuring space films

The Visitors Center at the National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL) reports several additions to its exhibit area and film presentations in time for the approaching summer season.

A large number of travelers are expected to visit NSTL during the summer months.

The film presentations offered each day in the Visitors Center auditorium now include "home movies" taken by Columbia astronauts John Young and Robert Crippen during the historic first Space Shuttle mission in April.

Young and Crippen cut the ribbon May 8 to "officially" open the Visitors Center.

This year, approximately 32,000 people from all 50 states and 75 foreign countries have visited the newly enhanced Center.

Another addition is a model of Spacelab in the cargo bay of the large Space Shuttle model in the exhibit area.

Spacelab is a complete orbital laboratory which will make possible a variety of human-directed experiments in the space environment.

The NOAA Data Buoy Office, one of several NSTL resident agencies participating in the Visitors Center, recently installed an indoor display which has gauges monitoring instruments on an actual data buoy located outside of the Visitors Center. The instruments register wind speed and direction, temperature, and barometric pressure.

The Visitors Center also offers "mini-tours" to the Space Shuttle Test Complex where shuttle main engines are test fired, as well as other points of interest.

Visitors have the opportunity to view the entire installation from atop the 90-foot observation tower at the Visitors Center.

All displays, presentations, and briefings follow the NSTL Visitors Center theme of "Space-Oceans-Earth," reflecting the missions of NASA and participating NSTL resident agencies.

NSTL is located in Hancock County and is accessible from Interstate 10 at Interstate 59.

The public is invited to tour the Visitors Center from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Monday through Friday excluding holidays.

Number 21 in the Mississippi Sound would be enforced in the future.

Both prosecuting attorney John Genin and Klein stated that the trial they believed that line was the one which the bureau would be enforcing in the future.

They stated they also thought that line was the one which bureau officers said they would contact their boss about in order to see if markers could be established to eliminate any doubt as to the location for fishermen and law officers in those waters.

Klein said, Buddy Seals, a Louisiana Department of Wildlife Conservation officer who participated in the pre-trial discussion, told him attempts by Louisiana officials to get a conviction of fishermen 1000 yards on either side of the line have failed.

Klein stated Seals said the Louisiana officers give 1000 yards leeway in their attempts to enforce the line.

Fisherman agreed that Mississippi officers previously enforced the Mississippi side of the line the same way the Louisiana officials enforced their side.

Attempts during the trial to have fisherman and Law officials to map the precise area in which arrests were made resulted in fisherman and officers alike pointing to different locations sometimes over one mile away from one another, Klein said.

He stated during the trial it is geometrically impossible to determine one's position with only one reference point.

Throughout the trial the fishermen stated only one Beacon could be seen because on the hazy day of the arrest and officers and fishermen agreed that Beacon One can rarely be seen from Beacon 21.

Later Klein stated he believed this was the reason why the agreement between Mississippi and Louisiana was established.

Dr. Richard Leard, BMR director who was not present at the trial, stated Thursday that attempts will be made by the bureau to mark the "state line."

He stated that line is closer to the One-Three-21 Beacon line than the straight line from Beacon One to Beacon 21.

During the past week the bureau has been attempting to enforce the line between Beacon Number One, Beacon Number Three, and Beacon Number 21.

That line, in places, is approximately three-quarters of a mile south of the One-

Fisherman say that line keeps them out of the deep water channel and away from the biggest shrimp catches.

Leard stated Thursday the state line was determined by a United States Supreme Court ruling in 1905 and "that line will be enforced."

Fishermen and Leard agree that an agreement was established 10 years ago concerning the line.

That agreement establishes the One-21 line as the state boundary.

Leard said Thursday the officers who were employed by what the bureau at that time made that agreement but did not have the authority to do so.

He stated, "The officers were acting on their own and had not right to establish a state line which can only be determined through the federal courts."

"We have no documents of that agreement," Leard said.

He said the bureau was not aware of the officers' actions until last week when other officers not involved in the 10 year old agreement went to the area to enforce the state line.

He stated the bureau is currently attempting to contact the director of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries to establish another agreement over the line and discuss Mississippi's attempts to mark the "true state line."

He noted the marking task has presented problems because the channel is over 30 feet deep in some places.

"We have used PVC (plastic) pipe in the past to mark other areas but the channel is too deep to use the pipe and I don't think the markers would last long," Leard said.

He stated he also thought the bureau would have trouble placing lighted beacons in the channel because the channel's narrowness.

"I do not know if the US Army Corps of Engineers would go along with that either," Leard said.

"A lot of boats use the channel. We will just have to put our heads together and try and figure out a solution," he said.

Tom Candies, major inspector of the Louisiana enforcement division of the Wildlife and Fisheries Department said Thursday, "We have been enforcing the One-21 line for years and we will continue to enforce it."

He said that line was enforced even before the agreement 10 years ago.

LAKESHORE ACCIDENT

A Waveland man in a Gulfport Memorial Hospital after colliding head-on Thursday morning with an automobile while riding a motorcycle.

Billy G. Clemmons, 34, of 1543 Waveland Avenue was transferred from Hancock General Hospital Thursday with serious injuries.

County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson Friday said he received a report that one Clemmons' legs was amputated, but Saturday a spokesman at the Gulfport hospital would not release any information regarding his condition.

Peterson reported the automobile driver—Michael A. Mobley, 23, of 182 28th St. in Gulfport—was charged with driving under the influence of alcohol, driving on the wrong side of the road and an expired inspection sticker.

"Clemmons was driving to work to Pier Bienville Industrial Park, traveling west on Ansley Road 1.5 miles west of Gulfview Elementary School, when Mobley's eastbound vehicle struck the motorcyclist at about 6 a.m.," Peterson explained.

The sheriff said Ben Benvenuti, 19, of 144 Burnett St. in Bay St. Louis was a passenger in the automobile and sought assistance after the accident.

"Clemmons was taken to Hancock General by Mobile Medic then transferred to Gulfport," Peterson stated. Investigating the accident are Cpt. Paul Bernard and Deputy David Garcia of the sheriff's department.

WAVELAND ARREST

A Waveland man is in the county jail charged with breaking and entering a residence and burglary.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn Saturday said Alvin Gillum was recently arrested and booked on the two charges.

"Gillum was apparently breaking into houses to cook and eat food he found. We've been having problems with him doing this," Dorn said.

"He's in jail under $5,000 bond waiting for trial in city court Thursday," the chief added.

Waveland Patrolmen Veronica Hattabaugh and Chuck James made the arrest.

structures erected below the 13.1 foot level would be demolished during a flood or hurricane with the resulting debris battering down nearby structures.

Murray also notes the commission primarily encountered violations with trailer dwellers in these flood-prone areas because mobile homes could be placed quickly and permits were frequently not obtained.

But the County Board of Supervisors recently ordered all electric power companies not to provide electrical service to a resident in flood areas unless a building permit is obtained.

The building inspector cites that the commission experienced difficulty enforcing permits for trailers until the supervisor's order was issued.

"A contractor will generally make sure homes are built to meet our standards, but trailers were giving us a great deal of difficulty," he explains.

The inspector says to obtain a permit for a trailer, foundation pilings must be in place before a permit will be issued.

Murray states that to secure a house building permit a written site surface elevation must be prepared by a licensed surveyor.

The building inspector then verifies the elevation and periodically inspects the house during construction.

Murray reported if someone purchases a trailer already located in a low lying area, to receive electric service they must obtain a "non-construction permit" from the county assessor's office at the Courthouse in Bay St. Louis.

The hurricane season ends Nov. 30.

Catfish follows scent of trotline bait like a hound follows game

By TOM HOAR
Daily Mississippian
News Service
UNIVERSITY, Miss.—A button was pushed. The motor sputtered and died. The leaky aluminum boat glided on-ward, coming abruptly to rest against the truck of an enormous, long-dead cypress tree.

The two fishermen, Jimmy Ray of Pearl and Mike Popernik of Oxford, both Ole Miss students, sat still for a moment.

They tried to adjust their ears to the sudden quiet and accustom their eyes to the abysmal blackness around them.

Sucking, swirling noises resounded from the flooded darkness, evidence that something big had just eaten something little.

The weak light that Popernik held did little to illuminate the scene, but it was enough to reflect a shiny, metal tag hanging from the tree and bearing his name and address.

The tag was attached to a trotline, to identify it as his. The 150-foot, 100-pound-test nylon line was suspended between two ancient cypress trees. Ten feet of cotton line was tied to each end of the nylon, to secure the trotline to the trees.

Mississippi fishing laws require the tags and the use of the cotton line. Nylon doesn't rot. If the trotline is abandoned, the cotton will rot and the line will fall to the bottom.

The fishermen knew that the best fishing was near the bottom, so they had left enough slack in the line to allow it to bow in the middle. It was weighted at both ends and in the center.

Hooks were attached to the line at three-foot intervals by two-foot "dropper" lines. The 40 No. 2 hooks were baited with shad, a baitfish native to Mississippi waters. The fishermen had five other trotlines, out, all, of them similarly rigged.

Sport-fishermen, those fishing for their personal use and not commercially, are allowed 100 hooks per line. In the part of Sardis Lake that Ray and Popernik had chosen, lines of that length aren't practical. Long lines are usually used in the open water of the big reservoirs.

Catfish aren't usually particular about what's offered them, and this night was no exception. It was still early in the season. The air was a little chilly and the water a little muddy and high, but the fishermen didn't do too badly, taking over 50 pounds of catfish of various species.

Professional trotliners often take individual fish weighing much more than that, but for most, 50 pounds of fresh catfish is welcome any time. Just about anything that will hand on a hook will take catfish. Shad, minnows, crawfish (usually the most productive bait in early spring, but hard to get), chicken hearts, livers, and entrails, blood baits and cheese baits will all catch cats.

Trotlining in its purest form requires the use of a boat. Those who don't own a boat can use bank lines, limb lines or "yo-yo's." Bank lines are multiple-hook lines attached to the bank, weighted at the other end, baited, and thrown into the water.

Limb lines hold only one hook and are attached to branches of trees hanging above the water. "Yo-yo's" are commercially manufactured, spring-wound reels that keep pressure on a fish once it's hooked. They cost about $3.50 each.

Trotlining works best in moving water, either creeks or rivers. Catfish will pick up and follow a bait's scent just the way a hound follows game. Only a fishing license is required to run trotlines. It can be done all year, but spring and summer are best. Trotlining is simple and cheap and it catches fish.

Can we, the citizens of the 3rd Ward, afford 4 more years of inaction or do we want a representative who will work towards:

1. Developing a community center!
2. Removing heavy city equipment from our neighborhood!
3. Restructuring the city utility system.

The 3rd Ward needs a representative who will listen to the people.

CORN FOR SALE
Farmers and other interested persons are eligible to purchase corn from the Commodity Credit Corporation as of May 21.

Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Pearl River - Hancock County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service Office, said the CCC will offer corn for unrestricted use at market prices, but not less than the formula price which is 145 percent of the county loan rate

"The minimum quantity that will be considered for acceptance is 1,000 bushels," Gennin said.

Here in Mississippi, the corn is stored at the Bunge Corporation located in Greenville. According to Gennin, offers will be received and sales will be made on a first come, first served basis.

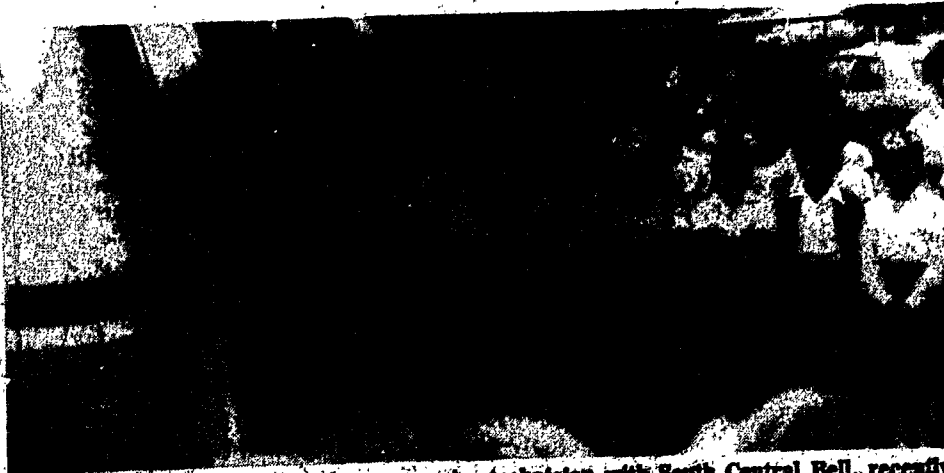

The CCC will offer for sale a total of 4.5 million bushels of corn stored in Georgia.

YOU AND YOUR PET

By Robert L. Steer, D.V.M.
Manager of Veterinary Services
Norden Laboratories

EAR CARE

Dogs and cats are born with an acute sense of hearing that is actually twice as good as man's.

But ears are a source of frequent trouble for these pets, and it is important to take special care while grooming to keep their ears as clean as possible.

Dog and cat ears are very sensitive; in fact, many pets resist having their ears touched at all. Normally, however, if you speak in a calm, reassuring voice, your pet will accept ear cleaning as part of its normal grooming routine.

Never poke or probe at your pet's ears, and never wash the ears out with soap and water.

Instead, apply a small amount of baby oil or peroxide on cotton and wipe only as far as you can without stretching the tissue.

Long-haired and floppy-eared dogs will need more attention more frequently, because there is little air circulating in their ears.

If the surface of your pet's ears appears dry, you might wipe it gently with a mild ointment to lubricate slightly. If the surface seems too moist, a dusting with boric acid powder might be helpful. But you should go no further. If either condition persists, further treatment is a matter for your veterinarian.

If you suspect that your pet has any kind of ear trouble, the best thing to do is leave the ear alone and call your veterinarian.

Many over-anxious owners probe too far into their pet's ears and may permanently damage the ear canal.

Some of the more obvious symptoms that indicate infection: black caking around the canal just inside the ear; frequent shaking of the head and pawing at the ear; holding the head at a strange angle so that you think your pet has lost its wits; a strong odor coming from the ear; or heavy waxy material and matted hair on the inside of the ear.

Do not use medication or insecticides that might be around the house.

Sometimes ear ailments are caused by nothing more than an insect bite, a minor ulceration or a small pimple. But even these minor inflammations can upset your dog or cat. Your pet can become quite annoyed and irritate the ear until both of you become frantic and the situation worsens.

Hematomas—swellings that contain blood—sometimes occur in the middle of the skin of the ear flap. They may result from a sharp blow which ruptures the blood vessels in the ear; or by your pet's scratching and shaking his ear as a result of ear inflammation or infection.

Occasionally, dogs suffer from otitis media, an inflammation of the middle ear. This condition comes from an infection of the external ear passage or the nasal passage by way of the eustachian tube—the tube connecting the middle ear with the upper part of the throat.

Common symptoms are pain, fever, ear discharge and possible loss of balance.

Often chronic ear irritations are caused by mites that settle in the ear. Symptoms of this infection are the same as for other ear infections.

Prompt attention to mites can give your pet relief from misery.

Your pet can also be irritated by something as simple as too much wax in the ear. It is best, regardless of all the home remedies you may see, to have your veterinarian take a look.

If there is an accumulation of wax in the ear, you may cause serious damage by attempting to dislodge it.

Remember that at the first sign of ear discomfort, you should take your pet to the veterinarian. He will know how to treat the various ear problems with the use of cat and dog medicine. And he can demonstrate proper ear care for your pet so you can avoid future problems.

Hee Haw humorist's own series likely

By BETH JACKSON
DAILY MISSISSIPPIAN
NEWS SERVICE

Almost every Saturday around 6 p.m. Ole Miss student Toby Nutt stops whatever he's doing, turns on the TV set, and waits for a familiar face to appear on the screen. The familiar face belongs to Nutt's father, Grady, who is Hee Haw's "Prime Minister of Humor."

"He's getting me through school on those jokes," said Nutt, a junior business major.

"I watch the show every week unless I can't get to a TV," Nutt said. His father — originally a Baptist preacher — has always spoken to and entertained groups.

Through this means, the comedian worked his way through college at Baylor University and the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky., where he received a master of divinity degree.

After working with the seminary and preaching at his own church in Graefenburg, Ky., for a number of years, Nutt's father decided to move out on his own. He's been self-employed now for 10 years, Nutt said.

Farm Bureaus and bank conferences are the kinds of groups his father usually addresses. Most of the speeches are comical, church-centered and ultimately Christian, he said.

"He's never gotten away from the Christian part," Nutt said about his father's work.

It was through one of his speeches in Nashville that Hee Haw producers heard about the entertainer.

"They asked him to come for a trial run one time," Nutt said, "and he's been on the show for two years now."

Nutt said his father, who is on the air two to two-and-a-half minutes per show, actually works for the program only two or three days a year. He goes to Nashville in the early fall and films 13 shows in a 30-minute period. Some time in the summer he goes back and shoots 13 more. Hee Haw is computerized; one show is made by putting different scenes together.

Nutt said the people who don't watch Hee Haw or are not involved with the Baptist church don't really know his father.

However, in Louisville everybody knows the entertainer because of his Future Federal Bank commercials, which are on TV every 30 minutes. Whenever the Nutts go out anywhere at home, they are bombarded by fans.

A recent development in the elder Nutt's career may soon have an even greater effect on his son's life.

NBC president Fred Silverman called his father over the Christmas holidays and said it was about time he had his own show.

Within a week, the comedian was in Los Angeles, making rough plans and going over what he thought would be good story lines.

The following week, NBC funded the pilot. The Reverend Grady, to be aired this spring.

The program is a 30-minute situation comedy about a nondenominational preacher and the problems he deals with in a small Midwestern town. The show is scheduled for the fall premiere season on Thursday nights.

Secretarial training will include computers

Schools once taught shorthand and typing to provide students with the proper training and skills for office work, but that's not enough for job holders in today's offices, says a University of Mississippi business education professor.

Instead, people entering the field of office management are required to master complicated information systems, including computers, and to govern office procedures, says Dr. Jeanne L. Holley, associate professor of business education and office administration at Ole Miss.

"What we have been referring to as the 'office of the future' is here right now," said Dr. Holley, who recently completed a study of office procedures and equipment in 60 Mississippi firms and organizations. She added that the "office of the future" is much more than a typewriter and a stenographer's pad; the contemporary office utilizes sophisticated word processing systems, computer banks, and complicated filing systems.

"Positions for secretarial support personnel today require that incoming office workers be knowledgeable about new technology," said Dr. Holley.

"There are new career opportunities for men and women in this field that require college graduates to be prepared for supervisory roles. These roles involve decision-making in equipment purchases and use as well as more effective use of managers' and secretaries' time by better systematic planning."

Her study, sponsored by a Stenograph Research Foundation grant, was aimed at learning what companies and organizations in the state are doing in office technology.

"To my knowledge this is the first study ever to try and determine the effects of changing office technology on the type of training and courses that are offered to students," Dr. Holley said. "We do know that to prepare qualified employees for the many new opportunities in this field, teachers will need to update instruction."

DIAMONDHEAD DAY CAMP—The 1981 Diamondhead Day Camp, which opens June 1, will include several field trips such as this one taken to New Orleans last year by campers. Field trips will include visits to NSTL, Beauvoir, Audubon Park Zoo, a circus, skating rink and aqua park. For information, call 255-1421.

Owens, Wilkinson wed in Slidell

Theresa Ann Wilkinson became the bride of William Thomas Owens Jr. in an afternoon ceremony on May 2 at First Baptist Church in Slidell, La.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marks W. Wilkinson Sr. of Pearllington. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. William T. Owens Sr. of Pensacola, Fla.

Dr. Hoyt Nelson officiated at the 2 p.m. double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Gail Sundeen, organist, and Mrs. Celia Estis, vocalist, both of Slidell.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chiffon over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a high neckline and yoke of point d' esprit lace overlaid with venise lace. The full bishop sleeves of chiffon had matching lace cuffs. The flowing skirt, which swept to a chapel length train, was bordered with venise lace. Her veil of silk illusion was edged in matching lace and was held by a venise lace caplet.

She carried a nosegay of miniature carnations, crysanthemums and baby's breath with white ribbon streamers.

Amacker of Pearllington, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Lisa Fuller of Long Beach was bridesmaid.

They wore mint green formal gowns with matching sheer jackets and complementary picture hats, and carried nosegays of spring flowers.

Alycia Wilkinson of Pearllington, niece of the bride, was flower girl.

Gary Auxier of Slidell served as best man.

Marshall Entekin of Slidell was groomsman.

Ushers were Rodney Wilkinson of Pearllington, brother of the bride; and Chuck Deal of Pensacola, Fla., brother-in-law of the groom.

The mother of the bride chose for the occasion a light beige dress trimmed in brown. The groom's mother was attired in a pink crepe dress with ruffled neckline.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church, where arrangements of spring flowers decorated throughout.

Assisting at the reception were Carolyn Wilkinson, Denise Wilkinson and Linda Wilkinson, all of Pearllington; Diane Deal of Pensacola, Ala.; and Kathy Cogle of Thomasville, Ala.

For traveling to Orlando, Fla. the bride chose a brown and beige dress with matching accessories.

The couple will reside in Slidell.

DGC reviews 1980-81 activities

The Diamondhead Garden Club met May 20 at the home of Mrs. Dix Ashman in Waveland.

President Mrs. Joseph Finley presented certificates to members (and some husbands) who had completed the course in "Planning the Home Landscape" conducted recently by Mr. John Davis, State Agriculture Agent.

The club members voted unanimously to make Mr. Charlie C. Cantrell an honorary member for the many favors he has done for the club in the past.

Mrs. J. H. Johnson announced that the Garden of the Month had been awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Mc-Clendon. Mrs. Finley invited all members to her home for a picnic, tentatively set for June 18.

The president gave her annual report, which included the following: Membership now stands at 87; with 71 active, nine associate and seven honorary members.

Activities of the past year were reviewed, which included Arbor Day, Litter and Beautification, Conservation and Ecology; Monthly Bird programs; Flower Show; Pilgrimage; Garden Therapy; Horticulture; Garden of the Month; Landscape and Design; Mardi Gras; Memorial Garden;

Publicity; World Gardening, Workshops in Flower Design and Youth Nature Camp.

The club hosted the Spanish Trail District Workshop and the Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

Following her report Mrs. Finley presented the club's "Woman of the Year" award to Mrs. Hilaire Ogden. Each of her officers were presented with copies of the State Cookbook. She was honored with a gift from the club, a round pinholder for use in floral design.

Installation of new officers followed, with Mrs. Clarence A. Evans as installing officer. A tree-shrub was "a-bloom" with seven corsages of silk rosebuds, tied with the club colors of pink, green and white. These were presented by the retiring officers to the incoming officers as the installation service was read.

New 1981-1982 officers are: treasurer, Mrs. Opal Hickman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Leon Barnett; recording secretary, Mrs. Harold Morris; first vice-president, Mrs. P. Satterlee; president, Mrs. George Kollasch; historian, Mrs. Jerry Reshaw; parliamentarian, Mrs. Joseph Finley.

The Club adjourned for a covered dish luncheon, a traditional part of the year-end meeting.

Brief

EUDORA TALKS

Eudora Welty is interviewed on a half-hour talk show produced by Georgia public television and can be seen at 7 p.m. Sunday, May 31, on the Mississippi ETV Network.

On "By-Line" she talks with host Gene-Gabriel Moore about the South, about Southern literature and about her own work. She recalls the strange feeling of re-reading pieces she had written 30 or 40 years ago as she corrected proofs for her latest book, "Collected Stories." She says each of her tales starts out as a short story, and she is surprised when sometimes a story expands into a novel.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Lott Sr. of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margaret Agnes Lott, to John Alan (Johnny) Lyster, son of the late Jerry F. Lyster of Laplace, La. The bride-elect attended Bay St. Louis schools.

The prospective groom attended Hardee High School in Florida. He is employed with Champion Ship Inc., Pass Christian.

The couple will exchange vows in a 1:30 p.m. ceremony on June 6 at Bay St. Louis City Hall with reception following at the bride's parents' home.

JOHN LYSTER AND MARGARET LOTT

Hariel, Shaw to wed June 6

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Hariel Sr. announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Mary Nell, to Steven Dennis Shaw, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Shaw of Crane Creek.

The couple will solemnize vows in a 2 p.m. ceremony on June 6 at the Community Baptist Church in the Barth Community.

Friends and relatives are invited to attend a reception which will follow at the bride's home.

Library extends summer programs to Catahoula

A special children's program has been planned by the Hancock County Library System for the young people in the Catahoula Community this summer.

Every other Monday beginning June 1 at 11 a.m., an activity will be presented at the Little Providence Church on Hwy. 43.

Activities will include picture book sessions, filmstrips, films, and crafts.

Children who attend the June 1 program will be able to join the Library System's Summer Reading Program. A collection of books will be taken to each program for the children to read between activity days. This service is an experimental program, according to Prima Wusnack, library-system director.

"We are already providing summer programs four days a week at our three branch libraries," she said.

"However, Barbara Blackely, a teacher and resident of the Catahoula Community, asked if we could possibly provide reading activities to approximately 40 children in the area who have no transportation to the libraries or film libraries.

Although our budget and staff are limited, we felt we should respond on an experimental basis to determine if we can provide more extension services in the future," she continued.

"We would like to train volunteers in a community and provide them with materials to conduct activities in areas such as these on a continuing basis."

For more information on this and other programs provided by the Hancock County Library System, call the headquarters library in Bay St. Louis, 467-5223.

PVT. HODA

Kiln resident Jeffrey S. Hoda, son of Jim and Susan Hoda, Route 3, Kiln will receive guaranteed technical training as a cannon fire direction specialist by enlisting in the U.S. Army under the Delayed Entry Program.

He will report to Ft. Sill, Okla. May 20 for basic and advanced training, according to Army recruiter, Staff Sgt. Harry Watkins.

"Hoda was interested in Army technology training and was able to qualify for the cannon fire direction specialist skill field," Watkins said.

"Enlisting under the Delayed Entry Program enabled him to go on active duty at a later time of his choosing."

Hoda attended Hancock North Central High School.

Under the Delayed Entry Program, individuals may join the Army and take up to 12 months to go on active duty. This allows enlistees to be more selective in the type of training they want and also permits them to finish school or work, Watkins explained.

Further information about the Delayed Entry Program is available from Sergeant Watkins at the Gulfport Recruiting Station, 2609 13th St. or phone 863-9680.

TRENDS

U. S. agriculture has experienced dramatic changes in the last few years. A recent U.S. Department of Agriculture study points out the much-altered nature of American agriculture:

Almost all easily available cropland, including that once idled by farm programs, is now back in production. While millions of acres of cropland remain, they are not as productive or need to be improved.

The long period of overproduction, large surpluses and depressed farm prices now seems to be behind us, although there may be occasional years of excess production.

International food needs now heavily influence the well-being of U.S. agriculture in any given year.

The character of U.S. farming has changed as fewer but larger farms now produce most of our total agricultural production.

The USDA report says these changes will influence new legislation to replace the 1977 Food and Agriculture Act which expires this year.

LEASE LAND
Do you grow crops on rented land? If so you're not alone, because more than half the total crops produced in Mississippi are grown on rented land. Much is rented on a cash basis.

In many cases, crop yields on rented land are well below the yields potential, partly because of poor rental agreements. We won't be able to reach our maximum income goals until we have more satisfactory rental agreements.

A partial solution to this problem is using a cash lease form. A good cash lease form should have a checklist of items; considered to be important in every cash lease agreement.

It should give property rights, amount of rent and time of repayment, landowner's investment and expenses, renter's investment and expenses, renter's duties, default procedures and other important agreements.

The county Extension office has free copies of a sample cash farm lease. You can use the form as a guide to develop your rental agreement. Get legal help in developing the actual lease.

DIRECTOR TO RETIRE

Dr. William M. Bost, director of the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service for the past 19 years, will retire on June 30.

During Dr. Bost's 30 years of service to the people of the state, his innovative leadership and programming have not only captured the imagination of Mississippians, but they have propelled him into the national spotlight as one of the outstanding leaders in the fields of agriculture and Extension education.

To recognize Dr. Bost's service to the people of Mississippi, the new Extension Center on the Mississippi State University campus will be dedicated in his honor on June 25. The dedication ceremony, open to the public, is scheduled for 2:30 p.m.

GRAIN SORGHUM
You still have time to plant sorghum for grain and reduce chances of production problems associated with a late crop.

Sorghum planted in May not only out-yields that planted in June or later, but it has fewer insect problems than late planted crops. By planting in May, you can harvest in September before soybean harvest begins.

Sorghum is sensitive to low pH; so be sure to fertilize and lime according to soil tests. If the soil pH is below 5.5, lime even if you have to apply it just before planting.

Phosphate and potash needs for grain sorghum are about the same as for corn. If these nutrients are low, apply 50 to 60 pounds of each per acre. About 120 pounds per acre is a good general recommendation for nitrogen.

Cable News Network sues for White House access

Cable News Network has filed suit against American Broadcasting Companies, Inc., CBS, Inc., and National Broadcasting Company, Inc., seeking damages and declaratory and injunctive relief for violations of the antitrust laws of the United States, resulting from their practice of "pooling" news coverage and from various other predatory and illegal practices directed at CNN.

Also named in the suit are

President Ronald Reagan, White House Chief of Staff James A. Baker and Deputy Press Secretary Larry Speakes for violation of CNN's right to equal access to cover Presidential news conferences, trips and other Presidential activities and White House events as guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States.

The civil action suit was filed in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Georgia, Atlanta Division.

"We are seeking to exercise our basic First Amendment rights," said Turner Broadcasting System Board Chairman R.E. "Ted" Turner, in announcing the legal action at a Washington, D.C., news conference. TBS owns and operates the Cable News Network, which began its live, 24-hour-a-day news programming on June 1, 1980.

"All we really want to do is to be able to cover the news completely and accurately," Turner declared. "No one should be able to abridge our constitutional right to do that. Our action is not aimed at the President himself, but rather at a relatively new White House policy apparently developed by his staff that seeks to limit access to news events to a select few. This policy flies in the face of everything America stands for."

"We seek nothing more than to bring the news to the people innovatively and responsibly," Turner added.

"The three major networks should not be able to dictate the terms of our coverage, limit its scope, or combine their resources to effectively prevent CNN from competing with them. And the President's staff should not be allowed to deny CNN equal access to cover Presidential activities and White House events."

"For at least 15 years, ABC, CBS, and NBC have been the principal participants in the market for the production of television network news programming and they have enjoyed a monopoly over this market," Turner maintained. "Our efforts to break this

Weather & Crop Report

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER & CROP REPORT

WEEK ENDING MAY 17

WEATHER SUMMARY

(National Weather Service): The first part of the week was fair but unseasonably mild due to the passage of a strong cold front the previous weekend. Lows in a few northeast counties fell to 39 degrees Tuesday morning. Another frontal system moved through the state Thursday and Friday, providing some much needed rainfall.

A developing storm to our west produced more rain on Saturday. The extreme northern counties received rain Sunday morning, with the remainder of the state generally sunny and warm. Both frontal systems brought cool air into the state. As a result, temperatures for the week were 5 to 10 degrees below normal.

The Delta received the largest amount of rain for the week with totals averaging 2 inches, central sections accumulated around an inch. The southern counties only received about a half inch of rainfall for the week.

CROP SUMMARY: Planting was delayed some during the week as much needed rain improved the state's moisture situation. Soil moisture was rated adequate over the northern area of the state and short over the southern area. There were 4.9 days suitable for fieldwork compared to 3.7 last year and 4.1 for the 5-year average.

Cotton planting was 95 percent completed compared to 83 percent last year and 82 percent for the average; 75 percent of the acreage was up to a stand compared to 52 percent last year and average; the crop was in fair to good condition. Soybeans were 26 percent planted compared to 19 percent last year and 23 percent average; 7 percent of the acreage was up to a stand compared to 5 percent last year.

Corn planting was 96 percent completed compared to 80 percent last year and 88 percent average; 86 percent of the acreage was up to a stand compared to 52 percent last year and average.

the crop was up to a stand; the crop was in good to fair condition.

Sorghum planting advanced to 44 percent complete compared to 31 percent last year and 35 percent average. Peanuts were 80 percent planted.

Sweetpotatoes were 57 percent planted.

Winter wheat was 21 percent ripe compared to 11 percent last year; about 1 percent of the acreage was harvested; the crop was in good to fair condition.

Hay harvest was 17 percent completed.

Pastures were in fair to good condition.

Peaches were in good to fair condition.

COUNTIES

TUNICA CO. "We got .85" over last weekend and .47" of rain Wednesday night. That helped our moisture situation a lot. Need about another inch and some warmer temperatures now."

CALHOUN CO. "Light rains last week and Wednesday night of this week helped tremendously. Planting ahead of schedule, lots of crops up and growing and insects are out in force."

MONTGOMERY CO. "Thrip population heavy in cotton; some chinch bug damage to corn."
